GCI is an advocacy group and community of enterprise IT and business executives, visionaries and authorities advocating for the adoption of best practices in creating a sustainable business environment across all industries and government operations. We work together on the promotion and adoption of:

* Common goal and initiatives to drive sustainability across all aspects of the business
* Standardized measurements and goals for greening the business and IT and defining maturity
* Case study sharing results and analysis
* Return on Investment (ROI) and Total Cost of Ownership (TCO) Experiences
* Education on the relationships between Green / Sustainable Business Practices and complimentary business and technology directions
* Information regarding the affects of standards on the Green marketplace
* Vertical Market focused collaboration on benefits to be obtained and issues to resolve
* Best Practices and Lessons Learned

GCI Mission

The GCI mission, strategies and tactics center on the following premises:

- Sustainability must be achieved with a holistic view of the corporate ecosystem and touch each element of the business

- Business and IT executives must collaborate to realize the highest yielding benefits of Green Business Practices

- The best way to education organizations about the benefits of sustainability is through a vibrant community, where there is a free and open exchange of ideas and best practices

GCI Tactics and Deliverables

GCI works diligently to spread its message through collaborative community events; development and dissemination of award programs, podcasts, webcasts, special tracks and sessions at industry events; and publication of resources from industry experts. Together we can make a difference to save money, save face and save the planet.

For more information on how to join GCI please email membership@greenci.org and a GCI representative will get back to you quickly.
